Tax Return Filing

Deadline Extensions

April 15th Deadline: The IRS has extended the tax filing and payment deadline to July 15, 2020.

Although an extension creates a helpful grace period, we believe it is in your best interest to go ahead and send us your documents to get filed as soon as possible. In light of the major economic impacts that we're already seeing, knowing your tax situation is very important.

- Liability: If you owe, you can still wait until July 15th to pay, and it gives you the extra time to prepare for the payment.
- Refunds: If you have a refund owed to you, it will still be issued in standard time. If you have a refund from the state, but owe Federal, you can receive your state refund and still wait until July to pay the Federal (or vice versa).

Continue to Send us Your Documents

We encourage our clients to practice social distancing and stay home if possible. The following measures allow us to continue to safely serve you:

TaxCaddy for uploading your documents: This is most secure way to get information to us at this time. It is simple to use, it's free, and it's secure. Email Kari Wolfe - kwolfe@avizogroup.com to get a link.

SafeSend to receive and sign your returns: We will send you an electronic version of your returns that you can sign through our SafeSend system. If you are unsure how to sign electronically, our staff can walk you through the process, just call our office at 251-928-2443.
